Nigel Meakin is a senior managing director in FTI's Corporate Finance practice and is based in Toronto. Mr. Meakin's experience includes assisting financially troubled companies, undertaking business reviews and managing insolvency administrations. He has extensive experience in developing and implementing reorganization strategies and providing advice and support to lending institutions, corporate clients and legal counsel.

Currently, Mr. Meakin devotes most of his time to advising both corporations and financial institutions with respect to the proposed reorganizations of companies in financial distress and performing in-depth analysis of companies' business affairs to develop restructuring and recapitalization plans. In addition, Mr. Meakin has been called on to provide expert testimony in restructuring proceedings.

Prior to joining FTI, Mr. Meakin was a senior vice president in the Financial Advisory Services group of PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC), where he specialized in corporate restructuring and insolvency. He had been with PwC and its predecessors since 1989 with his primary focus being restructuring work throughout that time. Mr. Meakin has been involved in and supervised a large number of reorganization, insolvency and investigation assignments in a wide variety of industries, including retail, real estate, manufacturing, telecommunications, healthcare, technology, aerospace, agricultural products, mining and natural resources.

Mr. Meakin is a contributing author of The Americas Restructuring and Insolvency Guide for the 2004 and 2008 editions and has been published in the National Banking Law Review.

Mr. Meakin holds a B.Sc. in chemistry from the University of Nottingham. He is a former director and treasurer of the Turnaround Management Association's Toronto chapter and a chartered insolvency and restructuring professional, a fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England & Wales and a licensed trustee in bankruptcy. He was a National Insolvency Examination Gold Medal Winner in 2000.
