1 TO THE HONORABLE COURT, THE DEBTOR AND ITS COUNSEL OF RECORD,
2 THE OFFICE OF THE UNITED STATES TRUSTEE, AND INTERESTED PARTIES:

3 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

4 I. INTRODUCTION

5 Creditor and equity interest holder John Michael DeLuca (“John DeLuca”) hereby 6 submits his Opposition (the “Opposition”) to the motion (the “Motion”) of debtor State Fish
7 Company, Inc. (“Debtor”) for a Final Order Assuming the Debtor’s Agreement with Avant 8 Advisory Group and Approving Mr. Blanco’s Appointment as Chief Restructuring Officer.
9 The Court should deny the Motion. Mr. Blanco was not properly hired, does not need to be 10 hired under 11 U.S.C. § 327 and Avant is not “disinterested” because he is an officer of the 11 Debtor, an insider under Section 101(31) and at the same time a manager and partner of a 12 consulting company, Avant, which was hired under a pre-petition contract which is subject to 13 assumption or rejection under Section 365.

14 The whole corporate structure urged upon the Court is an artifice designed to leave the 15 DeLuca Sisters, Vanessa DeLuca, Janet Esposito and Roseann DeLuca, in control of the 16 Debtor (but without any corresponding fiduciary duties) and in order to avoid the outright 17 dismissal of this sham bankruptcy petition or the appointment of a Chapter 11 Trustee. The 18 declaration of Vanessa DeLuca makes it crystal clear that the Motion to appoint a CRO is 19 really about the State Action. Over the course of almost a decade of litigation, the DeLuca 20 Sisters were willing to maintain status quo as to the company’s operations so long as those 21 operations worked to their own personal benefit, but on the eve of a judgment being entered 22 against them, the DeLuca Sisters have precipitated a self-created purported “emergency need” 23 for a CRO to restructure their debts. There is no actual “emergency”, and the Motion lacks 24 credibility when it argues that an alternative CRO cannot be hired because such a CRO “lacks 25 a similar understanding of the Debtors’ business and restructuring goals” and there would be a 26 “steep learning curve” for any alternative CRO (or, presumably a Chapter 11 Trustee).
27 (Motion at 8:2-5.) This case has been pending for less than two weeks and the CRO was 28

1 allegedly hired only weeks ago.

2 What is clear, is that the DeLuca sisters are trying to avoid the impact of The State
3 Court's imminent ruling against them, which would cause them to lose control of the company 4 they have abused for their own personal benefit at the expense of its minority shareholders.
5 The "insolvency" and "restructuring" needs are a sham. It is simply a subterfuge to avoid 6 judgment. There is no evidence that the Debtors were not meeting their debts as they came 7 due.

8 In fact, the DeLuca Sisters have, in effect, attempted to select their own Chapter 11 9 Trustee by illegally retaining consultants who are meant to be running the Debtor without any 10 of the controls or duties that a Chapter 11 Trustee has to the Court and the creditor body.
11 While Mr. Blanco and Avant may be qualified consultants, the Court need not approve this 12 artifice and manipulation of the Bankruptcy Code just so the DeLuca Sisters can maintain 13 control. And there is no doubt that they remain in control because the power to hire and fire is 14 the ultimate control and they purport to be able to vote out their alleged independent directors 15 (who are neither independent nor directors because their appointment was an illegal artifice 16 and because they were selected by the DeLuca Sisters and serve at their pleasure), reelect 17 themselves, pressure the alleged independent directors and, as the evidence shows, all the 18 while continue to work at the Debtor on a daily basis. The Court need not countenance this 19 self-serving manipulation.

20 John DeLuca's Opposition is based on this Notice, the accompanying Memorandum of 21 Points and Authorities, the declaration of Stephanie Amezcua (the "Amezcua Dec."), the 22 declaration of John DeLuca, the declaration of David Pasternak (the "Pasternak Dec."), and the 23 declaration and supplemental declarations of John Schlaff (the "Schlaff Dec." and the "Suppl.
24 Schlaff Dec.", respectively), and the complete records and files in this case and upon such 25 other and further evidence and arguments as may be permitted at the hearing on this matter.

26 WHEREFORE, John DeLuca prays that the Court will deny the Debtor's Motion in its 27 entirety, with prejudice. Alternatively, John DeLuca prays that: (i) the Court deny the Motion 28

1 as to Avant Advisory Group as they are not “disinterested” since Mr. Blanco is an insider; and 2 (ii) without prejudice to John DeLuca seeking to dismiss the bankruptcy, remove Blanco 3 and/or to seek appointment of a Chapter 11 Trustee. If Mr. Blanco is to serve as the Chief 4 Reorganization Officer of the Debtor (for the time being) and the Debtor claims that he was 5 properly appointed as an officer, then the Court need not approve his employment under 11 6 U.S.C. § 327 and Mr. Blanco can simply be paid as any other insider pursuant to the Office of 7 the United States Trustee’s insider compensation forms.

8 II. FACTUAL SUMMARY.

9 State Fish Company, Inc. (“State Fish”), the Debtor and Debtor-in-possession 10 (“Debtor”), filed its instant bankruptcy petition (the “Petition”) on January 26, 2015.¹ The 11 same day, the Debtor submitted its instant Motion in which it sought an order: (1) assuming 12 the Debtor’s purported agreement with the Avant Advisory Group (“Avant”); and (2) 13 approving Avant’s managing director and partner, George Blanco (“Blanco”) as the Chief 14 Restructuring Officer (“CRO”) of the Debtor. (Dkt. 19.) In support of its Motion, the Debtor
15 also filed the declaration of Vanessa DeLuca. (Dkt. 18.) On January 28, 2015, John DeLuca
16 filed his initial Objection to the Motion. (Dkt. No. 47.) Also, on January 28, John DeLuca
17 filed: (i) his Omnibus Supplemental Points and Authorities and declaration of John A. Schlaff 18 (Dkt. 48); and (ii) his Request for Judicial Notice (Dkt. 45), both of which are hereby 19 incorporated by this reference. The Court issued an order scheduling the final hearing for 20 February 25, 2015.

21 The history of the disputes among John DeLuca, the Debtor, and Vanessa DeLuca, 22 Roseann DeLuca and Janet Esposito (the “DeLuca Sisters”) have been set out in John 23 DeLuca’s prior pleadings in this case and are further discussed in the Supplemental Schlaff 24

25 ¹ As shall be discussed, the persons who have purported to have filed the Instant 26 Petition were and are without any legal authority to do so, and have no legitimate legal 27 standing at State Fish. They are neither duly appointed officers nor directors of State Fish, and 28 the State Court has repeatedly made rulings finding their appointment to be illegal and a nullity. All references herein which refer to State Fish as being the Debtor are arguendo –
State Fish is not properly before this Court at all and Creditor John DeLuca anticipates filing a motion to dismiss the Petition on that and other bases as soon as is practicable.

1 Decl.. However, for purposes of this Opposition, it suffices to say that the facts show that the 2 DeLuca Sisters, who are the majority stock holders of the Debtor, and who are still effectively
3 in control of the Debtor, purported to cause the Debtor to file this instant bankruptcy petition 4 in an apparent subterfuge to evade the judgment of the state court (the "State Court"), which 5 was about to enter judgment against the DeLuca Sisters removing them and their alleged 6 independent directors from the board of the Debtor and appointing truly independent directors 7 or a receiver.

8 In 2006, John DeLuca and other minority shareholders in the Debtor, brought both a 9 direct and derivative shareholder action, John DeLuca et al v. Rose DeLuca, State Fish Co.
10 Inc., et al, Los Angeles Superior Case No.: BC 358395 (the "State Action") to address willful
11 misconduct and breach of fiduciary duties by the DeLuca Sisters and their co-conspirator, 12 Susan Ricci ("Ricci") (collectively, the "Individual Defendants"), as to the Debtor and to 13 require the majority shareholders in the Debtor, the DeLuca Sisters to repay to the Debtor and 14 the minority shareholders millions of dollars the DeLuca Sisters had syphoned out of the 15 Debtor to pay their own legal expenses. (See Dkt. 48-1.)

16 After eight years of litigation and a one-and-a-half year bench trial involving more 17 than thirty days of testimony interspersed with the filing of more than twenty-five trial briefs, 18 the Plaintiffs in the State Action proved outrageous ongoing dishonesty and wrongdoing by the 19 DeLuca Sisters. On April 4, 2014, Judge Hiroshige of Department 54 of the Los Angeles
20 Superior Court (the "State Court"), in an initial ruling as required by California Rule of Court 21 ("CRC") 3.1590(a)(b)(c) (3) (the "April 4th Ruling"), indicated that it was his intent to remove 22 each and every one of the directors (i.e., the DeLuca Sisters and Ricci). (See Dkt. 48-1.) The 23 State Court also indicated that it would order an accounting in order to determine the amount 24 of legal fees that the DeLuca Sisters had unlawfully syphoned from the Debtor to pay for their 25 own legal fees in various actions. Furthermore, the State Court found that, among other 26 things, the DeLuca Sisters had "engaged in dishonest acts or gross abuse of authority or 27 discretion with reference to [the Debtor.]" (See Dkt. 45-7, p.13.) (See, Schlaff Dec., ¶¶4, 5, 28

1 6, and 7).

2 Thereafter, the DeLuca Sisters acting through both nominal and de facto counsel 3 engaged in multiple attempts to convince the State Court that (1) the DeLuca Sisters were 4 entitled to secretly put in place their own replacements and (2) that such replacements could 5 take steps to liquidate, or otherwise bind, State Fish. The State Court rebuffed each of these 6 arguments explicitly adopting as its own ruling each of the arguments set forth in the papers
7 filed by the State Action Plaintiffs. See Suppl. Schlaff Dec., ¶¶ 7, 11, and Exhibits 8 and 10.
8 Among others, these arguments included each and all of the following: (1) any appointment of 9 anyone to the State Fish board prior to the seating of Mr. David Pasternak (a truly independent 10 professional whom State Fish, the DeLuca Sisters and the State Action Plaintiffs had 11 previously stipulated could be seated as an independent member of the State Fish board of 12 directors) was illegal; (2) the DeLuca Sisters were barred under common law principals and 13 California Corporations Code §310 from voting for the persons who would be charged with 14 collecting judgments in the State Action from the DeLuca Sisters on behalf of State Fish; and 15 (3) the Bylaws pursuant to which the DeLuca Sisters purported to have elected their 16 replacements in secret were illegally enacted and a nullity.

17 On Friday, January 30, 2015, the State Court was to have a hearing at which time it 18 would resolve all objections to its April 4th Ruling and enter judgment. (See Dkt. 48-1.) (See, 19 Schlaff Dec., ¶9). However, on Monday, January 26, 2015, the Debtor filed its instant Chapter 20 11 Bankruptcy Petition (the “Petition”). The declaration of Vanessa DeLuca submitted by the 21 Debtor on January 26, 2015 in support of the Debtor’s “First Day Motions” and the 22 Unanimous Written Consent of Board of Directors attached to the Petition, indicates that the 23 DeLuca Sisters and Ricci resigned from the Debtor’s board of directors on January 23, 2104.
24 (See Dkt. 18, ¶¶28-31.) The Vanessa DeLuca Dec., then goes on to state “to the extent the 25 Independent Directors or the CRO deem it necessary or appropriate” Vanessa DeLuca, 26 Roseann DeLuca and Ricci will be hired to provide “consulting services” as “independent 27 contractors” to the Debtor. (Id.) In fact, this means that they will and are still running the day 28

1 to day business of the Debtor and the Amezcua Dec. makes this clear because Vanessa DeLuca
2 has been at the Debtor's offices every day this week.

3 Moreover, prior to their resignations from the board of directors, the DeLuca Sisters 4 and Ricci also purported to appoint their own successor board members. (Dkt. 18, ¶24.) As 5 has already been alluded to, the State Court has already embraced the position that those 6 appointments were void acts, but even assuming, arguendo, that this was not the case, the 7 Motion would still need to be denied. Vanessa DeLuca claims that these new supposed board 8 members are "independent" but they clearly are not since they can be fired and voted out by 9 the DeLuca Sisters. Vanessa DeLuca also states in her declaration that the so-called 10 independent board (which was hand-picked by the DeLuca Sisters prior to their resignations)
11 appointed Blanco to be the "chief restructuring officer" of the Debtor. (Dkt. 18, ¶25.)
12 Additionally, this supposedly independent board also apparently ratified hiring Avant as a 13 financial advisor to Blanco – which just happens to be Blanco's own firm in which he is not 14 only a partner but also the managing director. (Dkt. 18, ¶25; Dkt. 19, p.21, ¶5.)

15 The facts related to this Opposition are more fully set forth in the John DeLuca Dec., 16 the Schlaff Dec., and the Amezcua Dec.

17 III. STANDARDS

18 The applicant bears the burden of proving that the standards for appointment have been 19 met. In re Crook, 79 B.R. 475, 478 (9th Cir. BAP 1987). The decision by a bankruptcy court 20 to deny or approve an employment application is generally reviewed for abuse of discretion.
21 In re CIC Investment Corp., 175 B.R. 52, 53 (9th Cir. BAP 1994).

22 IV. THE COURT SHOULD DENY THE DEBTORS' MOTION

23 A. The "Independent" Directors Are Neither Independent, Nor Directors, and 24 Did Not Have Authority To Engage Blanco Or Avant

25 According to the Vanessa DeLuca Dec., Mr. Waldren, one of the two supposed 26 "independent" directors purportedly elected to State Fish's board by the DeLuca Sisters, 27 appointed Blanco. Neither Mr. Waldren, however, nor his fellow purported "independent" 28

1 director, Mr. Stopler, were properly elected to the board. Their election is a nullity such that 2 they cannot act for the Debtor or bind the Debtor to agreements.

3 First, at the time that Mr. Waldren and Mr. Stopler were purportedly elected to the 4 board, David Pasternak held one of their seats. See, Pasternak Dec., passim. Neither Mr.
5 Waldren nor Mr. Stopler could be seated ahead of Mr. Pasternak. Furthermore, neither in their 6 capacity as directors or shareholders could the DeLuca Sisters properly have voted to appoint 7 new directors who would be charged with collecting a multi-million dollar judgment against 8 them in connection with the State Action. Under California law, corporate directors and 9 majority shareholders are fiduciaries not only to their corporations, but also to the 10 corporation's minority shareholders. Remillard Brick Co. v. Remillard-Dandini, 109 11 Cal.App.2d 405, 419 (1952) [holding that it is "Hornbook law that directors . . . bear a 12 fiduciary relationship to the corporation, and to all the stockholders . . . including the minority 13 stockholders"]; Smith v. Tele-Communication, Inc., 134 Cal.App.3d 338, 343-344 (1982)
14 [holding same with respect to minority shareholders]. As such, directors and majority 15 shareholders must abstain from making decisions in which they are personally interested. In re 16 Oracle Corp. Derivative Litigation, 824 A.2d 917 (Del. Ch. 2003) [holding that it is improper 17 to give force to the act of a director when there is a question whether the "director is, for any 18 substantial reason, incapable of making a decision with only the best interest of the corporation 19 in mind".] Even acts which a majority shareholder and/or director might otherwise be able to 20 do as a matter of absolute right in the absence of a negative impact on the minority 21 shareholders become illegal if they would have a disproportionate negative effect on the 22 minority shareholders. Jones v. H.F. Ahmanson & Co., 1 Cal.3d 93, 108-112 (1969) [holding 23 that while in the absence of prejudice to the minority, the majority would have the unfettered 24 right to sell off the corporation, no such right exists when the minority shareholders will bear a 25
26
27
28

1 disproportionate burden from such sale]:

2 Self-dealing in whatever form it occurs should be handled with rough hands for what it 3 is -- dishonest dealing. And while it is often difficult to discover self-dealing in 4 mergers, consolidations, sale of all the assets or dissolution and liquidation, the 5 difficulty makes it even more imperative that the search be thorough and relentless.
6 Id. at 1 Cal.3d 111; emphasis added.

7 By both statute and at common law, a corporate act or transaction effected through the votes of 8 interested directors is void or voidable. Corporations Code § 310; Jones, supra. Directors are 9 deemed interested in a matter if they have a direct financial interest therein -- that, however, is 10 not the only basis upon which a director may be deemed "interested". "[I]f a corporate 11 decision will have a materially detrimental impact on the director, but not the corporation or its 12 stockholders, a director can be considered interested." In re Zoran Corporation Derivative 13 Litigation, 511 F.Supp.2d 986, 1003 (2007; N.D., California).

14 The impact of the foregoing standards is clear -- the Individual Defendants' secret 15 appointment of "independent" directors immediately following the State Court's April 4 16 Ruling was a self-serving and illegal act. There is no question that the choice of independent 17 directors is one in which the Individual Defendants are profoundly personally interested. The 18 independent directors who eventually take the Individual Defendants' places at State Fish will 19 be the persons who are responsible for enforcing the State Court's multi-million dollar 20 judgment against the Individual Defendants. Allowing the Individual Defendants to appoint 21 the persons responsible for prosecuting a multi-million dollar judgment against them is the 22 moral equivalent of allowing a criminal to pick his own judge, jurors, and -- in the vanishingly 23 small possibility of a conviction under such circumstances -- his own jailor.

24 How can this possibly be permissible? To ask the question is to answer it, and indeed 25 the Court in the State Action has repeatedly adopted the foregoing arguments as its own 26
27
28

1 findings that the appointment of the so called “independent directors” was and is a nullity.
2 Suppl. Schlaff Decl., ¶¶ 7, 11 and Exhibits 8 and 10.

3 Furthermore, even setting aside these issues (which, respectfully, the Court should not 4 do) the Debtor’s Motion provides the “engagement” letter (the “Engagement Letter”) setting
5 forth the terms of the services agreement between Avant and the Debtor. (Dkt. 19, p.16-23.) 6 Curiously, the Engagement Letter indicates that it is signed by Kirk Waldron – one of the 7 purported “independent” directors of the Debtor – on January 22, 2015. Yet, the corporate 8 resolution of the board of directors of the Debtor that was attached to the Petition, and which 9 ostensibly authorized the Debtor filing its Petition, indicates that the DeLuca Sisters and Ricci
10 did not resign from the board until January 23, 2015. (Dkt. 1, p.4.) Accordingly, Kirk 11 Waldron was not yet authorized to hire Avant to act as the professional consultant to the 12 Debtor.
13

15 Furthermore, even assuming that Kirk Waldron had been appointed as a director on 16 January 22, 2015 when he executed the Engagement Letter, he still could not have signed it 17 because only an officer of a corporation can enter into contracts on the corporation’s behalf.
18 See California Corporations Code §313(a) (the corporation shall have officers as may be 19 necessary to enable it to sign instruments). Here, there is no evidence provided by the Debtor 20 that Mr. Waldron was also an officer of the Debtor when he signed the Engagement Letter.
21 Accordingly, Avant was never authorized to act as the financial advisor to the Debtor.

22 B. The Court Should Not Approve The Employment Of Avant Or Blanco
23 Because They Are Not Disinterested

24 The Debtor seeks to retain both Avant and Blanco as professionals pursuant to 11 25 U.S.C. §327(a). (Motion, Dkt. 19, p.9:16-17.) Section 327(a), however, provides that only 26 persons that are disinterested and who do not represent an interest adverse to the estate may be 27 employed as professionals. The Court “must make an individualize inquiry to determine 28 whether a person has an interest which is adverse to the estate.” (emphasis added) In re

1 Keravision, Inc., 273 B.R. 614, 618 (B.C. N.D. Cal. 2002). Yet, here, the facts submitted by 2 the Debtor clearly show that Blanco and his firm, Avant, are not disinterested and, in fact, 3 likely represent an interest adverse to the Debtor's estate.

4 11 U.S.C. §101(14) defines persons that are "disinterested." Section 101(14) provides 5 that a "disinterested" person is one who: (i) is not an "insider;" (ii) has not been a director, 6 officer or employee of the debtor within the 2 years before the petition; and (iii) does not have 7 an interest materially adverse to the estate or any class of creditors. Here, the facts submitted 8 by the Debtor clearly shows that Blanco and his firm, Avant, are disqualified from being 9 employed by the Debtor for the following reasons.

10 1. Blanco and Avant's Interests are Materially Adverse to the Estate and 11 the Debtor's Creditors

12 The timing of Blanco and Avant's employment, the timing of the petition, and the fact 13 that the Motion was filed on an emergency basis all demonstrate why the Motion should be 14 denied. Neither Blanco nor Avant are actually disinterested but, rather, are being used (or are 15 susceptible to being used) as an extension of the DeLuca Sisters to run the day-to-day 16 operations of the Debtor, a result in direct conflict with the April 4th Ruling. While Avant and 17 Blanco may be qualified and may be "good people" the circumstances of their hiring and the 18 artifice it has created in these cases, in effect, a substitution for a Chapter 11 Trustee must be 19 rejected as an undermining of the April 4th Ruling.

20 The Motion to employ Blanco and Avant is nothing more than a tactical move on the 21 part of the Debtor to seek to prevent the dismissal of these bankruptcy cases and/or the 22 appointment of a truly independent Chapter 11 Trustee. In light of the Superior Court's 23 orders demonstrating the DeLuca Sisters' systematic fraud and mismanagement, this Court 24 should give strict scrutiny to any prospective employees that were hand-picked by the DeLuca 25 Sisters. Transactions with insiders, in particular, warrant strict scrutiny by the Court. See, 26 e.g., Brewer v. Erwin & Erwin (In re Marquam Investment Corp.), 942 F.2d 1462, 1465 (9th 27 Cir. 1991) (affirming the denial of an insider attorneys' legal fees claim, because "[t]he

1 Supreme Court has instructed that an insider's dealings with a bankrupt corporation must be 2 'subjected to rigorous scrutiny,'" and finding that "not only to prove the good faith of the 3 transaction but also to show its inherent fairness from the viewpoint of the corporation and 4 those interested therein." (citing Pepper v. Litton, 308 U.S. 295, 306 (1939)). Here, there has 5 been no such showing of "inherent fairness," and, in fact, the evidence reflects an inherent 6 conflict between the interests of the DeLuca Sisters and their prospective professionals, 7 including Blanco, and the interests of the Debtors' estates.

8 These bankruptcy cases should be dismissed, but in the event they are not, there is no 9 question that a Chapter 11 Trustee should be appointed in lieu of a CRO hand-picked by the 10 same parties that defrauded the Debtor and its creditors. Among other things, a Chapter 11 11 Trustee: (i) investigates the Debtor's acts, conduct, assets, liabilities, financial condition, and 12 operation (11 U.S.C. § 1106(a)(3)); and (ii) prepares and files an investigative report regarding 13 any fraud, dishonesty, incompetence, misconduct, or mismanagement by the Debtor (11 14 U.S.C. § 1106(a)(4)). It is clear that the DeLuca Sisters wish to avoid such further scrutiny, 15 and it is highly likely that neither Blanco nor Avant will engage in such scrutiny.

16 2. *Blanco and Avant cannot be employed because Blanco – if the

19 Debtor

20 While the fact of the matter is that this Bankruptcy has been improperly filed by 21 persons who do not actually hold any legal position at State Fish, making the assumption that 22 the so-called independent directors had such authority is still fatal to the employment of 23 Blanco because under those circumstances Blanco was an officer of the Debtor within 2 years 24 of its instant Petition and is, therefore not disinterested – thereby disqualifying him as being 25 employed by the Debtor. The declaration of Vanessa DeLuca submitted in support of the 26 Debtor's Motion provides that Blanco was appointed by the Debtor's board of directors (the 27 same board that the DeLuca Sisters themselves appointed) on January 24, 2015. (Dkt. 18, p.7, 28

1 ¶25.) The Debtor’s instant Petition was filed on January 26, 2015. (Dkt. 1.) Plainly, the 2 Court cannot approve Blanco as the “CRO” of the Debtor because he is not disinterested on 3 account of him being appointed as an officer prepetition and within the last two years of the 4 Petition.

5 The Debtor may argue that Blanco should not be disqualified from being employed by 6 the Debtor pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §1107(b), which provides that “[n]otwithstanding section 7 327(a)...a person is not disqualified for employment...by a debtor in possession solely 8 because of such person’s employment by or representation of the debtor before the 9 commencement of the case.” This section creates a limited exception to Section 327(a) for 10 persons who would otherwise be disqualified from employment solely on account of their 11 prepetition employment with a debtor. However, as stated in In re Yuba Westgold, Inc., 157 12 B.R. 869, 872 (B.C. N.D. Iowa 1993), “[section 107(b)] does not apply to all interested 13 persons, but only to those who fail to be disinterested solely because of prior employment.” 14 (internal quotations omitted.) Yet, as shown below, Blanco is not disqualified solely on 15 account of his prior employment with the Debtor as an officer but, rather because Blanco’s 16 status of being an insider and having been appointed by biased current directors who serve at 17 the pleasure and behest of the DeLuca Sisters, and on account of his adverse interest to the 18 Debtor. “Section 1107(b) does not provide an exception to the disinterested requirement to 19 permit employment of insider[s]...” Id. Here, as shown below, it is clear that Blanco and 20 Avant are effectively insiders and the Court should not grant the Debtors’ Motion.

21 3. Blanco and Avant cannot be employed because they are insiders

22 11 U.S.C. §101(14(A) provides that a person who is an “insider” is not disinterested.
23 Yet, Blanco and his company, Avant, are insiders and, therefore, cannot be employed by the 24 Debtor. 11 U.S.C. §101(31)(B)(ii), (vi), (F) identifies certain “insiders” of a corporation, 25 which includes an “officer,” a “person in control of the debtor,” and a “managing agent of the 26 debtor.” Here, as shown above, Blanco is an officer and, therefore, is an insider who is clearly 27 not disinterested. Furthermore, the papers submitted by the Debtor show that Blanco is also a 28

1 person “in control” and “managing agent” of the Debtor in light of Blanco’s engagement just 2 prior to the Petition Date. The Motion also states that Avant will “report directly to the Board 3 of Directors” of the Debtor, who (to the extent they exist at all) were hand-picked by the 4 DeLuca Sisters before they pretended to “step down” in violation of the Superior Court’s 5 orders. (Dkt. 19, p.6:6-7.) Accordingly, it is evident that Blanco and Avant are in control of 6 the Debtor for purposes of 11 U.S.C. §101(31).

7 In In re United Color Press, Inc., 129 B.R. 143, 144 (B.C. S.D. Ohio 1991), the debtor, 8 UCP, requested, prepetition, that Buccino and Associates, Inc. (“B&A”) provide an 9 assessment of its financial and operational condition and to assist UCP in turning its financial 10 situation around. However, despite B&A’s efforts, UCP filed a chapter 11 petition. Id. Prior 11 to filing bankruptcy, however, UCP realized that it did not have enough directors to authorize 12 a bankruptcy and, therefore, UCP requested that B&A’s vice-president, Morro, to serve on its 13 board. Id. Morro later testified that approving the UCP’s bankruptcy resolution was the sole 14 action taken by him as its director. Id. The same day it filed its petition, UCP entered into an 15 agreement with B&A for it to essentially act as UCP’s reorganization officer. Id. Upon 16 application of UCP to employ B&A, the United States objected to the same on the ground that 17 B&A was not disinterested and was an “insider” because its vice-president, Morro had served 18 as the debtor’s director. Id. at 146. The court held that it is bound by the strict language of 19 §327(a) that prohibited B&A from being employed by the debtor because one of its employees 20 had served as the director of the debtor. Id. at 147.

21 Here, just as in In re United Color Press, Inc., Blanco and Avant should be considered 22 insiders and not disinterested because Blanco has served as the chief restructuring officer of 23 the Debtor.

24 Furthermore, in In re Capitol Metals, Inc., 228 B.R. 724, 725 (9th Cir. BAP 1998), the 25 debtor, Capitol, had entered into an agreement prepetition for a Mr. Peterson to act as its CFO.
26 Peterson was also the co-principal of ABC Markets Group (“ABC”). Id. Capital had also 27 entered into an agreement for ABC to act on its behalf to effectuate a sale of Capitol. Id.

1 When a proposed buyer of Capitol that ABC had secured backed out, Capitol filed a chapter 2 11 petition. Id. Capitol then filed an application to employ ABC as its exclusive financial 3 advisor and investment banker and disclosed that Debtor had hired ABC prepetition. Id. at 4 725-26. The Creditors' Committee objected to Capitol's application on the ground that ABC 5 was not disinterested due to the prepetition employment of Peterson. Id. at 726. The 6 bankruptcy court granted the application on the ground that Peterson was never formally hired.
7 Id.

8 However, the Ninth Circuit reversed. First, the court held that Peterson had most 9 certainly acted as the CFO of Capitol regardless of whether he was formally hired and was, 10 therefore, disqualified from being hired. Id. at 727. As to Peterson's firm, ABC, the court 11 held that although there is no per se rule that a firm is not disinterested "solely" because its 12 principal "was" an officer of the debtor, the circumstances of the case compelled the court to 13 hold that ABC was not disinterested (namely that Peterson would be the one working with the 14 debtor). Id.

15 Similarly, here, the circumstances of this case should compel the Court to deny the 16 Motion and rule that both Blanco and Avant are not disinterested.

17 4. *The interests of Blanco and Avant are adverse to the interests of the 18 estate and its creditors

19 There are indicia of serious conflicts of interest arising from the Motion. The DeLuca 20 Sisters still retain ultimate control over the Debtors and Blanco and the "Independent" 21 Directors serve at the whim of the DeLuca Sisters, who apparently continue to orchestrate the 22 operations of the Debtors behind the scenes. Just as the DeLuca Sisters' interests are adverse 23 to the interests of the Debtors' estates, so too are the interests of their agents, whether they are 24 held out as "independent" or not.

25 The Motion does not disclose whether Blanco will work from his office at Avant, 26 whether he will work on-site or whether the DeLuca sisters will run day to day as independent 27 contractors or contractors or consultants (as it is patently clear that Vanessa DeLuca is still 28

1 running the day to day operations since she was at the Debtor's office every day this week)
2 (see Amezcua Dec.) and whether there will, in effect, be any change in day-to-day operations 3 of the Debtor. Moreover, the Motion does not provide whether Avant represents any of the 4 Debtor's competitors, or even whether Blanco or have any experience whatsoever with the wet 5 fish business. These are facts that are conspicuously absent from the Debtor's Motion and its 6 supporting declarations and the lack of the same makes it impossible for the Court or 7 interested parties to understand what experience he has and whether other conflicts exist.

8 V. CONCLUSION

9 WHEREFORE, John DeLuca prays that the Court will deny the Debtor's Motion in its 10 entirety, with prejudice. Alternatively, John DeLuca prays that: (i) the Court deny the Motion 11 as to Avant Advisory Group; and (ii) without prejudice to John DeLuca seeking to (a) 12 discharge the bankruptcy, (b) remove him and/or (c) seek appointment of a Chapter 11
13 Trustee, allow Mr. Blanco to serve as the Chief Reorganization Officer but not under 11 14 U.S.C. § 327 but simply as a hired officer and insider of the Debtor.
