OPINION ON CONFIRMATION².

BY: KEVIN J. CAREY, UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY JUDGE

“Will you walk into my parlor?” said the spider to the fly;
“’Tis the prettiest little parlor that ever you did spy.
The way into my parlor is up a winding stair,
And I have many pretty things to show when you are there.”
“O no, no,” said the little fly, “To ask me is in vain,
For who goes up your winding stair can ne’er come down again.”³

To put it into terms employed by the Equity Committee, the central dispute for determination by the Court is whether the lender (spider) here “conjured up immaterial defaults,” catching the (sufficiently unwary) Debtor “completely off guard” to “impose their will on” the Debtor, undermine its “recently confirmed plan and raid the Company’s coffers to force an expedited repayment”⁴ (and a premature liquidation).

² This Opinion constitutes the findings of fact and conclusions of law, required by Fed.R.Bankr.P. 7052. This Court has jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1334 and 157(a). This is a core proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 157(b)(1) and (b)(2)(L). Any capitalized terms not defined in this Opinion shall have the definitions set forth in the Plan.

⁴ Memorandum/Brief In Support (Post-Trial) of the Official Committee of Equity Security Holders’ Objection to the Confirmation of Debtors’ Joint Prepackaged Chapter 11 Plan (D.I. 432) at 2, 7, 8.

Before the Court is the Debtors' request for confirmation of the Debtors' Modified Joint Prepackaged Chapter 11 Plan (incorporating mediation settlement) (the "Plan").⁵ On September 6, 2016, the Debtors, Official Committee of Equity Security Holders (the "Equity Committee"), and certain Lenders holding in excess of 99% of the First Lien Claims (the "Ad Hoc Group") participated in mediation before The Honorable Christopher Sontchi (the "Mediation"). Unable to reach a settlement, the hearing to consider confirmation of the Plan began on September 22, 2016, and concluded September 27, 2016 (the "Confirmation Hearing").

The Equity Committee and various other parties filed objections to the Plan. Prior to and for the duration of the Confirmation Hearing, the Debtors continued negotiating with the objecting parties and resolved a number of objections. Currently, the following objections filed by the Equity Committee remain:

- (1) "The Plan Releases and Exculpations Are Impermissible" regarding the Plan releasing claims held by the Debtors and other third parties;
- (2) "The Plan Violates Section 1129(a)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code" because it is not proposed in good faith;
- (3) The Plan "Violates Section 1129(a)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code" (the "best interest test"); and
- (4) The Plan "Fails to Satisfy the Cramdown Standard Under Section 1129(b)" (collectively, the "Objections").⁶

Based on the record made at the Confirmation Hearing and for the reasons set forth herein, the Objections will be overruled and the Debtors' Plan will be confirmed.

⁵ The Debtors' Joint Prepackaged Chapter 11 Plan was dated June 6, 2016 (D.I. 18) and amended on October 18, 2016 (D.I. 436).

STATEMENT OF STIPULATED FACTS⁷

I. CURRENT BANKRUPTCY

1. On June 5, 2016 (the "Petition Date"), each of the Debtors filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code. The Chapter 11 Cases have been consolidated for procedural purposes only.⁸ The Debtors continue to operate their businesses as debtors in possession pursuant to Bankruptcy Code sections 1107(a) and 1108. On June 21, 2016, the United States Trustee for the District of Delaware appointed the Equity Committee.⁹ The members of the Equity Committee and their respective equity holdings as of August 16, 2016 are: Centerbridge Credit Partners Master Fund, LP (1,710,352 shares of Common Stock (defined below)); Archer Capital Management, LP (499,948 shares of Common Stock); and Lawrence Callahan (26,000 shares of Common Stock).¹⁰ As of August 22, 2016, the Ad Hoc Group collectively owned 5,177,563 shares of Common Stock.¹¹

⁷ At the conclusion of the Confirmation Hearing, the Court requested submission of a statement of agreed facts. The Debtors, together with the Ad Hoc Group and the Equity Committee have done so. The Statement of Stipulated Facts, including the associated footnotes (the "Statement") (D.I. 431) accurately reflects the record made at the Confirmation Hearing, so is adopted by the Court as its findings of fact. The completeness of the Statement and its helpfulness to the Court in contributing to a prompt decision are most appreciated.

2. Certain Hercules entities, including the international subsidiaries, are not in bankruptcy or insolvency proceedings.¹² Some of Hercules's assets—including four international jackup rigs currently under a contract of sale—are international, Non-Debtor Subsidiaries.¹³

II. HERCULES'S BUSINESS

3. Hercules performs offshore drilling services, both domestically in the Gulf of Mexico and internationally.¹⁴ Hercules's property consists primarily of 24 jackup rigs, 19 liftboats, and ancillary equipment.¹⁵ Jackup rigs are designed for drilling activities; they “jack up” on location and drill either exploratory or production wells.¹⁶ Liftboats serve as mobile repair, hotel, or other servicing vessels.¹⁷

4. Jackup rigs are commonly referred to as either “working,” “warm-stacked,” or “cold-stacked.”¹⁸ A “working” rig is under contract, fully operational, and fully staffed.¹⁹ A “warm-stacked” rig is off contract but maintains a reduced level of staff so that it can be reactivated relatively quickly in the event a contract for its services can be secured.²⁰ A “cold-stacked” rig maintains the minimal level of personnel required by law, and is not repaired or maintained.²¹

5. Hercules has 17 domestic jackup rigs in the U.S. Gulf of Mexico.²² None of the 17 rigs is currently under contract.²³

6. Additionally, Hercules owns seven international jackup rigs.²⁴ Four of the seven international jackup rigs are working under contract.²⁵

7. Three of the international rigs, the Hercules 261, Hercules 262, and Hercules 266 (collectively, the “Saudi Fleet”), are currently under contract with Saudi Aramco, a Saudi-based customer.²⁶

8. An additional international rig, the Hercules 260, is operating off the coast of the Congo.²⁷

9. Hercules has three additional international jackup rigs that are not currently under contract: one off the coast of West Africa (the Hercules Resilience (the “Resilience”), one in Malaysia, and one off the coast in the United Kingdom, in the North Sea (the Hercules Triumph (the “Triumph”).²⁸

10. Between the Petition Date and the Confirmation Hearing (defined below), only one jackup rig has been sold (the Hercules 267 for approximately $3 million).²⁹ The Court also has entered orders approving the sale of six additional rigs for a total purchase price of $1.55 million, which sales are expected to close shortly.³⁰

11. Hercules also has a contract in place to sell the Saudi Fleet and has received a deposit for 10% of the purchase price for such sale.³¹

12. In addition to the jackup fleet, Hercules also has nineteen liftboats, all of which are international.³² Sixteen liftboats are located off the coast of West Africa, and the remaining three liftboats are located in the Middle East.³³

13. Four liftboats are currently operating: two in the Middle East and two off the coast of West Africa.³⁴

III. HERCULES HIGHLANDER

14. In May 2014, non-Debtor Hercules British Offshore Limited (“Hercules British Offshore”) signed a five-year drilling contract (the “Maersk Agreement”) with Maersk Oil North Sea UK Limited (“Maersk Oil”) for a new jackup rig, the Hercules Highlander (the “Highlander”).³⁵ The Highlander was contracted to be a specifically-built, high-specification

jackup rig to work offshore in the United Kingdom in the Culzean Field.³⁶ The terms of the Maersk Agreement provided for a $225,000 dayrate over a five-year period beginning upon the Highlander's arrival in the Culzean Field, estimated to occur by August 2016.³⁷

15. In support of the Maersk Agreement, also in May 2014, another non-Debtor subsidiary, Hercules North Sea Ltd. ("Hercules North Sea") signed a rig construction contract (the "Rig Construction Contract") with Jurong Shipyard Pte Ltd. ("Jurong") in Singapore with respect to the Highlander.³⁸

16. Hercules's management team forecasted that the Maersk Agreement, at full utilization and day rates, would provide between $40 and $50 million of EBITDA per year to Hercules.³⁹

IV. 2015 BANKRUPTCY FILING

17. On August 13, 2015, HERO and certain of its domestic direct and indirect subsidiaries (collectively, the "2015 HERO Debtors") commenced voluntary pre-packaged chapter 11 cases (the "2015 Chapter 11 Cases") in this Court.⁴⁰

18. On September 24, 2015, this Court entered an order confirming the Debtors' Joint Prepackaged Plan of Reorganization Pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code (the "2015 Plan").⁴¹

19. The 2015 Plan provided Hercules with access to new liquidity in the form of exit financing under that certain Credit Agreement (the “First Lien Credit Agreement”), dated as of November 6, 2015, among HERO, as borrower, certain of HERO’s subsidiaries, as guarantors (the “First Lien Guarantors” and, collectively with HERO, the “First Lien Obligors”), Jefferies Finance LLC (“Jefferies”), as administrative agent and collateral agent (the “First Lien Agent”), and certain lenders (the “First Lien Lenders”).⁴²

20. The 2015 Plan became effective on November 6, 2015.⁴³

V. FIRST LIEN CREDIT AGREEMENT

21. The First Lien Credit Agreement provided Hercules with a $450 million senior secured credit facility consisting entirely of term loans (the “First Lien Facility”).⁴⁴

22. HERO’s obligations under the First Lien Credit Agreement (the “First Lien Obligations”) are guaranteed by the First Lien Guarantors, which include all of the other Debtors and certain of the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries.⁴⁵ The First Lien Obligations are secured on a first priority basis by liens on substantially all of the First Lien Obligors’ respective assets, including their vessels, bank accounts, accounts receivable, and equity interests in subsidiaries.⁴⁶ The First

Lien Credit Agreement provides for the payment of an additional premium (“Applicable Premium” or “Makewhole”) to the First Lien Lenders upon the occurrence of certain events.⁴⁷

23. The First Lien Credit Agreement contains two financial covenants: (1) a minimum liquidity ratio covenant (the “Liquidity Covenant”); and (2) a maximum secured leverage ratio (the “Leverage Ratio”) covenant, scheduled to take effect on January 1, 2017 (the “Leverage Covenant”).⁴⁸ Beginning with the last day of the fiscal quarter ending March 31, 2017, the Leverage Covenant required that Hercules’s Leverage Ratio not exceed 6.00 to 1.00; 5.00 to 1.00 as of June 30, 2017; 4.00 to 1.00 as of September 30, 2017; and 3.50 to 1.00 as of December 31, 2017 and beyond.⁴⁹

24. Upon emergence from the 2015 Chapter 11 Cases, Hercules believed it would be able to meet both the Liquidity Covenant and the Leverage Covenant.⁵⁰

VI. ESCROW AGREEMENT

25. Per the terms of the First Lien Credit Agreement, upon the effective date of the 2015 Plan, $200 million of the proceeds of the First Lien Credit Agreement (the “Escrowed Amount”) were placed into an escrow account (the “Escrow Account”).⁵¹ The Escrowed Amount was intended to be used for the remaining installment payment on the Highlander, originally scheduled for delivery on or around April 19, 2016, and the expenses, costs and charges related to the construction and purchase of the Highlander.⁵²

26. Per the terms of that certain Escrow Agreement (the “Escrow Agreement”), dated as of November 6, 2015, among HERO, the First Lien Agent and Wilmington Trust, National Association, as escrow agent (the “Escrow Agent”), upon the satisfaction of certain conditions (the “Escrow Conditions”), the First Lien Agent would instruct the Escrow Agent to distribute funds in the Escrow Account to Jurong for the remaining installment payment on the Highlander and the expenses, costs and charges related to the construction and purchase of the Highlander.⁵³

27. In addition, upon the occurrence of an Event of Default (as defined in the First Lien Credit Agreement), the Escrow Agreement provided that the First Lien Agent, at the direction of the requisite First Lien Lenders, could instruct the Escrow Agent to distribute funds in the Escrow Account to prepay the loans under the First Lien Facility.⁵⁴

VII. BOARD OF DIRECTORS POST-EMERGENCE FROM 2015 BANKRUPTCY

28. John Rynd, Hercules’s CEO, was the only “holdover” member to remain on the current HERO board of directors (the “Board”) following the 2015 HERO Debtors’ emergence from chapter 11.⁵⁵

29. Lawrence Dickerson was appointed to the Board as chairman.⁵⁶

Between the effective date of the 2015 Plan (November 6, 2015) and the Petition Date, the Board held 28 meetings.⁵⁷ A number of these meetings were “combined” meetings of the full board with a special committee of the board that, as discussed infra, was formed in January 2016 to evaluate strategic alternatives for Hercules.⁵⁸ The special committee also held an additional 10 meetings separate and apart from the full Board.⁵⁹

VIII. STATE OF OIL MARKET AND MARKET FOR HERCULES'S RIGS AND LIFTBOATS

31. Oil prices dropped in late November 2014.⁶⁰

32. Following the drop in oil prices, Saudi Aramco came to Hercules and other providers of drilling services in Saudi Arabia seeking to cut dayrates,⁶¹ and Hercules acquiesced.⁶² On February 25, 2015, Hercules received notice that Saudi Aramco was terminating the contract for the Hercules 261 for convenience, effective March 27, 2015 and then extended to May 31, 2015.⁶³ The originally-contracted day rates for the Hercules 261, Hercules 262, and Hercules 266 were approximately $136,000, $118,000, and $125,000, respectively.⁶⁴

33. Hercules was able to renegotiate with Saudi Aramco to reinstate the Hercules 261 contract, in exchange for dayrate concessions for all three of the jackup rigs to $67,000 per day for each rig, effective retroactively from January 1, 2015 through December 31, 2016 for the Hercules 261 and Hercules 262, and through the remaining contract term for the Hercules 266.⁶⁵

34. Crude oil prices declined from $52 per barrel in July 2015, when the restructuring support agreement with respect to the 2015 Plan was executed, to $44-46 per barrel during the pendency of the 2015 Chapter 11 Cases,⁶⁶ and to just under $30 per barrel in early 2016.⁶⁷

35. On March 9, 2016, Hercules received a new notice from Saudi Aramco further reducing the dayrates under the contracts for the Hercules 261 and Hercules 262 from $67,000 per day to $63,500 per day, applicable retroactively to January 1, 2016 through December 31, 2016.⁶⁸

36. Hercules has been unable to obtain any work for the Triumph or the Resilience.⁶⁹

IX. SPECIAL COMMITTEE

37. On January 20, 2016, Hercules formed a Special Committee of the Board (the “Special Committee”), comprised of all independent directors (i.e., all Board members except CEO John Rynd), with Mr. Dickerson as its chair.⁷⁰

38. The Special Committee was formed to pursue strategic alternatives available to Hercules.⁷¹

39. These strategic alternatives included consideration of various options, including status quo analyses, sale of some of Hercules’s assets, the sale of Hercules as a whole, and consideration of issuing additional equity or debt securities or incurrence of additional indebtedness.⁷²

40. HERO publicly announced the formation of the Special Committee on February 11, 2016.⁷³

41. In February 2016, the Special Committee engaged PJT Partners Inc. (“PJT”) as financial advisor, and Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP (“Akin Gump”) as counsel.⁷⁴

X. MARKETING PROCESS

42. Shortly after its formation, the Special Committee authorized PJT to initiate a marketing process (the “Marketing Process”) to seek bids for the potential acquisition of some or all of Hercules’s assets or Hercules as a whole.⁷⁵

43. As part of the Marketing Process, PJT contacted over 50 potential strategic partners and potential financial sponsors to gauge interest and solicit bids to acquire some or all of Hercules’s assets, including the Highlander,⁷⁶ or merge with Hercules as a whole.⁷⁷

44. To facilitate the Marketing Process, Hercules established a dataroom (the “Dataroom”), which included Hercules’s financial projections and forecasts.⁷⁸ The Dataroom also included specifications for Hercules’s rigs and liftboats.⁷⁹ In order to access the Dataroom, interested parties had to sign non-disclosure agreements.⁸⁰ Approximately fifteen parties signed such agreements.⁸¹

45. First round bids were due the week of March 21, 2016 (the “First Round Bid Deadline”).⁸²

46. Seven parties (the “First Round Bidders”) submitted non-binding bids (the “First Round Bids”) by the First Round Bid Deadline.⁸³

47. The indicative purchase prices of the First Round Bids, all but one of which sought to acquire all, or substantially all of Hercules’s assets, ranged from $110 million on the low end to $455 million on the high end.⁸⁴

48. The highest First Round Bid from “Bidder A” for all of Hercules’s assets, except one Saudi Arabian asset, was for $455 million, consisting of $200 million in cash and $255 million in equity in the post-acquisition entity.⁸⁵

49. The Special Committee directed PJT to invite three of the First Round Bidders (collectively, the “Second Round Bidders”) to submit second round bids (the “Second Round Bids”) by April 14, 2016 (the “Second Round Bid Deadline”).⁸⁶

50. The Second Round Bidders were provided an opportunity to conduct additional diligence of Hercules, including meetings with management, to discuss Hercules’s business and operations.⁸⁷

51. Management participated in multiple in-person meetings and/or teleconferences with each of the Second Round Bidders.⁸⁸ In addition, John Rynd spoke directly to the CEO of Bidder A.⁸⁹

52. By the Second Round Bid Deadline in April 2016, Hercules received two nonbinding Second Round Bids from two of the three bidders (the “Second Round Bidders”).⁹⁰

53. The highest Second Round Bid was again from Bidder A for substantially all of Hercules’s assets excepting the liftboats, Hercules 208 and Hercules 267.⁹¹ At this time, Bidder A increased its bid to $470 million, comprised of $220 million in cash and $250 million in equity in the post-acquisition entity.⁹²

binding bids from parties that had not submitted First Round Bids (collectively, the “Additional Bids”).⁹³ One of the Additional Bids, from Maersk Drilling (“Maersk Drilling”), was solely for the Highlander.⁹⁴

55. The Additional Bids contained purchase prices ranging from a bid for $326 million to a bid for $515-520 million, both for the entirety of Hercules, which was comprised of $65-70 million of stock and $450 million of rollover debt.⁹⁵

56. The Highlander-only Additional Bid offered $205 million, but that bid was later reduced.⁹⁶

XI. HERCULES’S FORECASTS, DECEMBER 2015 – FEBRUARY 2016

57. On December 11, 2015, management provided the Board with a budget projecting 2016 EBITDA of approximately negative $7.7 million and forecasting 2017 EBITDA of approximately $144.5 million.⁹⁷

58. On February 24, 2016, management provided the Board with a budget projecting 2016 EBITDA of approximately negative $30 million EBITDA, and forecasting 2017 EBITDA of approximately $103 million.⁹⁸

59. Management made changes to the February 24th budget and forecast.⁹⁹ The final 2016 budget (1) reduced the warm-stacked daily operating costs for the Triumph and the Resilience from approximately $24,000 per day for the Triumph and $27,500 per day for the *Resilience*¹⁰⁰ to $10,000 per day per rig beginning April 1, 2016, (2) eliminated a company-wide incentive program for G&A, (3) reduced the operating costs for the Hercules 263 to $1,500 per day (from approximately $9,400 per day) as of July 1, 2016,¹⁰¹ and (4) assumed that the Triumph would not find work before March 2017 and the Resilience would not find work before December 2016.¹⁰² Based on these revisions, Hercules projected 2016 EBITDA of approximately negative $12.68 million, and forecasted 2017 EBITDA of $106 million.¹⁰³

60. All management budgets and forecasts assumed that the Highlander operated as expected and that Maersk Oil paid the full contract dayrate.¹⁰⁴

XII. MARCH 30, 2016 10-K

61. On March 30, 2016, HERO filed its Form 10-K for fiscal year 2015.¹⁰⁵

62. As clarified in an amendment to the Form 10-K filed on April 15, 2016, as of March 30, 2016, Hercules and a majority of the Board did not believe that it was more likely than not that Hercules would file for bankruptcy in 2016.¹⁰⁶

XIII. COMMUNICATIONS WITH LUMINUS

63. Luminus Energy Partners Master Fund, Ltd. (“Luminus”), is a Bermuda-based hedge fund managed by Luminus Management, LLC in New York.¹⁰⁷ At the time of Hercules’s emergence from the 2015 Chapter 11 Cases, Luminus held approximately 1.2% of the debt outstanding under the First Lien Credit Agreement.¹⁰⁸

64. As of the date of the Confirmation Hearing, Luminus owned approximately 40% of the debt outstanding under the First Lien Credit Agreement.¹⁰⁹

65. In addition, as of June 15, 2016, Luminus owned 914,992 shares of Hercules’s common stock (the “HERO Common Stock”).¹¹⁰

66. In December 2015, Luminus contacted management regarding Hercules.¹¹¹

67. In February 2016, Luminus provided Hercules with a presentation stating that it viewed Hercules’s significant cash burn as unsustainable and harmful to Hercules’s value.¹¹² In that presentation, Luminus shared its view that Hercules would default on the Leverage Covenant in the first half of 2017.¹¹³

68. In February 2016, Luminus also provided Hercules with a presentation setting forth potential de-risking options for the Highlander, including project financing and a joint venture with Jurong.¹¹⁴

69. Luminus urged Hercules to de-risk the Highlander, citing, among other things, risk that Maersk Oil would cancel its contract or seek to renegotiate the Maersk Agreement dayrates.¹¹⁵

70. On April 12, 2016, Luminus presented its views of Hercules to the Special Committee, including a view that the results of the Marketing Process were disappointing.¹¹⁶ Luminus also suggested an out-of-court sale of Hercules's assets,¹¹⁷ and de-risking alternatives for the Highlander, including project finance and a joint venture.¹¹⁸

71. Following its meeting on April 12, 2016, the Special Committee instructed PJT to begin negotiating with Luminus regarding a potential transaction while simultaneously continuing the Marketing Process.¹¹⁹

72. On April 15, 2016, Luminus provided a proposal for a controlled chapter 11 bankruptcy in which Hercules's various assets could be sold off individually, and holders of

73. Section 5.15 of the First Lien Credit Agreement provides that “each Loan Party will . . . [e]xecute and deliver the documents and complete the tasks set forth on Schedule 5.15, in each case within the time limits specified therein (or such longer period of time acceptable to the Administrative Agent at its sole discretion)” (the “Nigeria Registration Covenant”).¹²²

74. Schedule 5.15 provides that “[w]ithin 60 Business Days following the Closing Date (or such longer time as may be agreed by the Collateral Agent in its sole discretion), the Borrower shall cause Hercules Offshore Nigeria Limited (its Nigerian subsidiary) to deliver the certificate of registration of the vessel mortgage at the NIMASA,” the Nigerian Maritime Administration and Safety Agency.¹²³

75. The deadline for delivery of the certificate of registration had previously been extended on multiple occasions with consent of the First Lien Agent.¹²⁴

76. On March 31, 2016, the First Lien Agent advised that the deadline would only be further extended until April 15, 2016.¹²⁵

¹²⁵ JX 419 (Email dated March 31, 2016 from J. Woolmer to W. Blazek re: Hercules-Post-closing); see also Trial Tr. 509:2-510:6 (Rynd).

77. On April 14, 2016, Hercules requested a further extension, but that request was denied.¹²⁶

78. Hercules did not deliver the registration certificate on April 15, 2016.¹²⁷ The registration certificate was delivered on April 21, 2016.¹²⁸

79. The assets subject to the Nigerian Registration Covenant Default are worth between approximately $6 and $25 million.¹²⁹

80. The First Lien Lenders, including Luminus, did not accelerate Hercules's debt obligations under the First Lien Credit Agreement with respect to the Nigeria Registration Covenant Default as a result of the Original and Amended Forbearance Agreements (discussed and defined below).¹³⁰

81. On Friday, April 15, Hercules's counsel Baker Botts notified the First Lien Agent by email that (i) Hercules disagreed with the required First Lien Lenders' interpretation of the alleged Event of Default with respect to the Nigeria Registration Covenant, (ii) defenses may exist with respect to the alleged Event of Default, and (iii) "[a]ny attempt to declare an Event of Default under the First Lien Credit Agreement as a result of the delays in Nigeria would be in bad faith."¹³¹

82. Counsel for the First Lien Agent responded to Baker Botts, stating: “We do not agree with your characterization of the facts set forth in your email.”¹³²

83. Shortly after informing the Debtors of the alleged Nigeria Registration Covenant Default, the Ad Hoc Group’s advisors identified a potential Default (as defined in the First Lien Credit Agreement) based on Hercules’s alleged failure to comply with an affirmative covenant in the First Lien Credit Agreement, Section 5.18, with respect to Discovery Offshore (Gibraltar) Limited, a Non-Debtor subsidiary.¹³³

84. Section 5.18 required Hercules to use its “best efforts” to cause its Gibraltar subsidiary to dissolve, merge, or consolidate with or into another Loan Party (as defined in the First Lien Credit Agreement) within 120 days of closing (the “Gibraltar Covenant”).¹³⁴ Hercules had begun to unwind the Gibraltar entity, but then paused after determining that unwinding the Gibraltar entity would jeopardize Hercules’s ability to collect an outstanding $11 million receivable.¹³⁵ Hercules elected to continue its efforts to collect the $11 million before winding down the entity.¹³⁶ The receivable remains disputed and unpaid today.¹³⁷

85. Hercules never advised the First Lien Lenders about its failure to dissolve the Gibraltar entity and never sought an extension or otherwise discussed the matter with the First Lien Lenders.¹³⁸

86. The alleged Gibraltar Covenant Default was raised by the Ad Hoc Group's advisors during the negotiation of the Original Forbearance Agreement and was included in that Agreement to make clear that the First Lien Lenders were not waiving the potential Default relating to the Gibraltar Covenant.¹³⁹

87. Hercules reserved all rights with respect to future challenges to the alleged Nigeria Registration Covenant and Gibraltar Covenant defaults, should the Plan not be confirmed.¹⁴⁰

XV. ORIGINAL AND AMENDED FORBEARANCE AGREEMENTS

88. Between April 14, 2016, when Hercules received notice that its request for a further extension to deliver the Nigeria registration certificate would be denied, and April 18, 2016, the Board and Special Committee met four times with management and Hercules's legal and financial advisors.¹⁴¹

89. On April 18, 2016, the Board and Special Committee determined that HERO should enter into the Forbearance Agreement and First Amendment to the First Lien Credit Agreement (the "Original Forbearance Agreement"), with the First Lien Guarantors, the First Lien Agent, and certain First Lien Lenders.¹⁴²

90. Pursuant to the Original Forbearance Agreement, the First Lien Lenders agreed to forbear on accelerating the amounts asserted to be due under the First Lien Credit Agreement related to the alleged Nigeria Covenant and the Gibraltar Covenant Defaults.¹⁴³

91. Also pursuant to the Original Forbearance Agreement, Hercules agreed that it would not be permitted to draw the Escrowed Amount during the Original Forbearance Period (as defined in the Original Forbearance Agreement)¹⁴⁴ to fund the delivery of the Highlander.¹⁴⁵

92. Pursuant to the Credit Agreement, as amended by the Original Forbearance Agreement, Hercules was able to draw on the Escrowed Funds outside of the forbearance period as long as the First Lien Lenders were provided with two-days' notice.¹⁴⁶

93. On April 28, 2016, Hercules and the First Lien Guarantors entered into Amendment No. 1 to Forbearance Agreement and First Amendment to Credit Agreement (the "Amended Forbearance Agreement"), which amended the Original Forbearance Agreement to extend the Forbearance Period (the "Amended Forbearance Period," and together with the Original Forbearance Period, the "Forbearance Period").¹⁴⁷

94. On May 2, 2016, management presented an update on first quarter performance for 2016, including EBITDA figures for the quarter of approximately negative $6.7 million.¹⁴⁸ For the year as a whole, the May 2, 2016 management presentation projected 2016 EBITDA of approximately negative $15.3 million.¹⁴⁹

95. The May 2, 2016 management presentation also contained a 2017 EBITDA forecast of approximately $117 million, and forecasted Leverage Covenant breach in Q4 2017.¹⁵⁰

XVII. MAY 5, 2016 10-Q

96. Also during the May 2, 2016 Board meeting, the Board unanimously approved Hercules's Form 10-Q for the period ending March 31, 2016.¹⁵¹ Management also approved the Form 10-Q.¹⁵²

97. In the Form 10-Q filed May 5, 2016, Hercules stated that it was “currently projecting that it will violate the Maximum Senior Secured First Lien Leverage Ratio under its Credit Agreement on March 31, 2017.”¹⁵³

98. Hercules further disclosed that, if the Leverage Covenant were violated by March 31, 2017, and Hercules was unable to obtain a waiver, “the lenders could accelerate [the First Lien Credit Agreement] debt obligations” and “the Company would be required to pay an

XVIII. AMENDED RESTATED FORBEARANCE AGREEMENT AND HIGHLANDER NOVATION

100. During the Forbearance Period, the Special Committee continued to pursue the Marketing Process, continuing discussions with the Second Round and Additional Bidders through PJT.¹⁵⁶ The Special Committee and its advisors compared the bids received by the Second Round and Additional Bidders to the Luminus proposals.¹⁵⁷

101. The Special Committee determined that Hercules should transfer its rights to the Highlander to Maersk Highlander UK Limited (“Maersk UK”).¹⁵⁸

102. The First Lien Credit Agreement required the consent of the Required Lenders (as defined in the First Lien Credit Agreement) in order for Hercules North Sea to transfer its rights to purchase the Highlander to Maersk UK.¹⁵⁹

103. On May 26, 2016, the First Lien Lenders and the First Lien Obligors entered into an Amended and Restated Forbearance Agreement (the “Amended and Restated Forbearance Agreement”).¹⁶⁰

104. Pursuant to the Amended and Restated Forbearance Agreement, the Required Lenders consented to the release of their liens on the Highlander, but did not consent to the sale of Hercules North Sea’s rights to the Highlander.¹⁶¹

105. The Amended and Restated Forbearance Agreement further stated that the transfer of such rights constituted an Event of Default under the First Lien Credit Agreement and the Required Lenders accelerated the debt under the First Lien Credit Agreement.¹⁶²

106. Per the terms of the Amended and Restated Forbearance Agreement, the Escrowed Amount (along with interest) was then released to the First Lien Agent for the benefit of the First Lien Lenders, reducing the amount of outstanding First Lien Debt by $200 million.¹⁶³

107. On May 26, 2016, Hercules North Sea, HERO, and Hercules British Offshore entered into a series of agreements related to the Hercules Highlander. These agreements included a tripartite agreement (the “Tripartite Agreement”) with Jurong and Maersk UK pursuant to which, among other things, (i) the right to acquire the Highlander was transferred to Maersk UK; (ii) Maersk UK assumed the obligation to pay the final installment payment of $195,988,025 to Jurong; (iii) Hercules British Offshore and HERO assigned to Jurong all of their respective rights, title and interest in and to certain equipment, consumables, and spare parts

XIX. RESTRUCTURING SUPPORT AGREEMENT

108. On May 26, 2016, the First Lien Obligors and First Lien Lenders holding more than 99% of the First Lien Claims (collectively, the "Consenting First Lien Lenders") entered into a restructuring support agreement (the "Restructuring Support Agreement"), unanimously approved by the Board during a meeting the day before.¹⁶⁵

109. During the meeting on May 26, 2016, PJT and management presented the Board with an estimated range of sales proceeds for Hercules's assets of $94 million to $273 million.¹⁶⁶ Combined with working capital assets and Hercules's cash balance as of April 30, 2016, total proceeds available under the Original Plan (defined below) were estimated to be between $625 million and $805 million.¹⁶⁷

110. The Restructuring Support Agreement set forth the commitments and obligations of the Debtors and the Consenting First Lien Lenders, respectively, in connection with the wind-down of Hercules's business and operations, to be implemented under a chapter 11 plan.¹⁶⁸

111. The Restructuring Support Agreement and original Joint Prepackaged Chapter 11 Plan filed on the Petition Date (the “Original Plan”) (as well as the Plan)¹⁶⁹ contemplated that, upon Consummation, all of the Debtors’ assets (including their equity interests in the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries) will be transferred to the Wind Down Entity, which would be responsible for, among other things, the monetization of the Debtors’ assets and winding down the Debtors’ and the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries’ businesses and operations. The Wind Down Entity would be funded,¹⁷⁰ so as to maintain currently warm-stacked rigs in the warm-stacked state,¹⁷¹ and there is no forced time period to sell off the remaining assets through the Wind Down Entity.¹⁷²

112. The Original Plan allowed the First Lien Claims in the amount of $579 million and provided the following treatment for holders of Equity Interests, if the class voted in favor of the Original Plan:

- $12.5 million in cash on the Effective Date of the Plan;
- An additional $15 million in cash after $420 million, in the aggregate, has been received by the First Lien Lenders through a combination of (i) the Escrow Repayment, (ii) principal payments under the Cash Collateral Order, (iii) any pre-Effective Date principal payments from asset sale proceeds and (iv) post-Effective Date payments on the Lender Wind Down Claim;
- 15% of the net proceeds from the monetization of Hercules’s assets through the Class B Wind Down Entity Interests after $510 million and until $530 million, in the aggregate, has been received by the First Lien Lenders through a combination of (i) the Escrow Repayment, (ii) principal payments under the Cash Collateral Order, (iii) any pre-Effective Date principal repayments from asset sale proceeds; (iv) any Effective Date payments; (v) post-Effective Date payments on the Lender Wind Down Claim; and (vi) distributions on the Class A Wind Down Entity Interests

XX. SOLICITATION PROCESS

113. On May 31, 2016, the Debtors caused Prime Clerk LLC to distribute solicitation packages containing the Disclosure Statement, the Plan, and ballots to holders of Claims and Equity Interests entitled to vote to accept or reject the Original Plan as of May 23, 2016.¹⁷⁴ As classes holding impaired claims, Class 3 First Lien Claims and Class 7 HERO Common Stock were solicited to vote on the Original Plan.¹⁷⁵

114. The First Lien Claims voted unanimously to accept the Original Plan.¹⁷⁶

115. Class 7 HERO Common Stock voted to reject the Original Plan, with holders of 54.58% of the outstanding shares voting to reject and holders of 45.42% of the outstanding shares voting to accept.¹⁷⁷

XXI. DISCOVERY AND CONFIRMATION BRIEFING

117. Prior to the Confirmation Hearing, the Parties engaged in document discovery. Additionally, the Parties conducted 13 depositions, including of Special Committee members Lawrence Dickerson, Eugene Davis, and Jon Cole; Board member and CEO John Rynd; CFO Troy Carson; Treasurer and VP of Investor Relations Son Vann; PJT Principal Michael Genereux; the Equity Committee's 30(b)(6) witness Bao Truong of Centerbridge Partners, L.P.; Rob Sales of Archer Capital; Equity Committee proposed expert Joshua Scherer of Ducera; and two representatives from Luminus, Adam Weitzman and Ethan Keller. Fact discovery concluded on July 26, 2016,¹⁷⁹ though the Parties consented to a limited number of depositions after the close of fact discovery due to witness availability conflicts.

119. On August 5, 2016, the Debtors and the Ad Hoc Group filed briefs in support of confirmation of the Original Plan.¹⁸¹

120. A confirmation hearing was initially scheduled to begin August 10, 2016, but following the Debtors' request for mediation at the telephonic status conference held on August 4, 2016, the hearing was postponed to September 22, 2016.¹⁸²

XXII. MEDIATION AND AMENDED PLAN

121. On September 6, 2016, the Debtors, the Equity Committee, and the Ad Hoc Group participated in mediation before The Honorable Christopher Sontchi (the "Mediation").¹⁸³

122. During the Mediation, the Equity Committee, the Ad Hoc Group and the Debtors were not successful in reaching a global compromise with respect to the Original Plan and related objections.¹⁸⁴ The Mediation did, however, result in a revised agreement between the Debtors and the Consenting First Lien Lenders that continued to permit 100% recovery to the general unsecured claimants in the cases. With respect to holders of HERO Common Stock, the Consenting First Lien Lenders agreed to (i) subordinate their Claims in order to provide a $15 million guaranteed payment to HERO Common Stock holders and (ii) reduce the amount of the Rejection Lender Wind Down Claim by $32.5 million. The terms of the additional settlement with the Consenting First Lien Lenders were embodied in the Plan.

XXIII. CONFIRMATION HEARING

123. Beginning on September 22, 2016, and concluding September 27, 2016, the Court held a hearing on confirmation of the Plan (the “Confirmation Hearing”).

124. The Court heard testimony from four witnesses for the Debtors: (1) CFO Troy Carson; (2) CEO John Rynd; (3) Chairman of the Board and Special Committee member Lawrence Dickerson; (4) and Steven Simms of FTI Consulting, Inc.

125. Testimony was submitted via deposition designations and counter-designations for Special Committee members Eugene Davis and Jon Cole, PJT representative Michael Genereux, Hercules’s Treasurer Son Vann; Adam Weitzman and Ethan Keller of Luminus; and Bao Truong of Centerbridge.

DISCUSSION

1. The Plan Releases and Exculpations Are Permissible

The Equity Committee asserts that the Plan provides the lenders, directors, officers, and various third parties with releases from claims held by the Debtors, which are impermissible by law and warrant denial of Plan confirmation. The Plan provides for releases by the Debtors (the “Debtor Releases”) of certain claims, rights and causes of actions that the Debtors may have against each of the Released Parties.¹⁸⁵

¹⁸⁵ “Released Parties” means each of: (a) the Debtors, (b) the Wind Down Entity; (c) the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries; (d) the Ad Hoc Group; (e) the Ad Hoc Group Members; (f) the Consenting First Lien Lenders; (g) each Consenting First Lien Lender; (h) the First Lien Agent; (i) the First Lien Lenders; (j) each holder of HERO Common Stock that is also a Consenting First Lien Lender; (k) with respect to each of the foregoing Entities in clauses (a) through (j), such Entity’s predecessors, successors and assigns, current and former affiliates, subsidiaries, funds, portfolio companies, and management companies; and (l) with respect to each of the foregoing Persons in clauses (a) through (k), each of their respective current and former officers, directors, professionals, advisors, accountants, attorneys, investment bankers, consultants, employees, agents and other representatives (each solely in their capacity as such). See Plan, Art. I.A. ¶ 106.

Bankruptcy Code section 1123(b)(3)(A) permits a debtor to include settlement of a debtor's claims as discretionary provisions in a plan of reorganization. Courts have identified five factors that are relevant in determining whether to approve a debtor's releases:

- i. an identity of interest between the debtor and non-debtor such that a suit against the non-debtor will deplete the estate's resources;
- ii. a substantial contribution to the plan by the non-debtor;
- iii. the necessity of the release to the reorganization;
- iv. the overwhelming acceptance of the plan and release by creditors and interest holders;
- v. the payment of all or substantially all of the claims of the creditors and interest holders under the plan.¹⁸⁷

The foregoing factors "are neither exclusive nor conjunctive requirements, but simply provide guidance in the Court's determination of fairness."¹⁸⁸ However, these factors "form the foundation for such an analysis, with due consideration of other factors that may be relevant to [the] case."¹⁸⁹

Under Article V.D. of the Plan, entitled "Releases by the Debtors," the Debtors purport to grant releases to, among other entities, the Ad Hoc Group (including its members), the First Lien Lenders and the First Lien Agent (collectively, the "Released Lender Parties"), and the Debtors' Directors and Officers from all claims related in any way to the Debtors, their businesses and the Chapter 11 Cases, in connection with any act taking place on or before the Effective Date of the Plan. Article V.D. further grants these releases to the Released Parties' "predecessors, successors and assigns, current and former affiliates, subsidiaries, funds, portfolio companies, and management companies,” and “each of their respective current and former officers, directors, professionals, advisors, accountants, attorneys, investment bankers, consultants, employees, agents and other representatives”¹⁹⁰

The Special Committee and the Board unanimously approved the Mediation Settlement and the Plan, concluding they are in the best interest of all stakeholders and provide more than sufficient consideration to support the releases.¹⁹¹ In support thereof, the Debtors’ Post Trial Memorandum summarized their reasoning: The Original Plan required payment in full of all unsecured claims and priority payments to shareholders, including a guaranteed up-front payment.¹⁹² At the low-end estimate for distributable value under the Original Plan, the First Lien Lenders stood to receive only $388 million out of their $579 million Allowed Claims while guaranteeing 100% unsecured creditor recoveries and $12.5 million to equity. The Mediation resulted in additional concessions from the First Lien Lenders, including a $15 million guaranteed payment to shareholders and a $32.5 million reduction in the Rejection Lender Wind Down Claim.¹⁹³ former “officers, directors, professionals, advisors, accountants, attorneys, investment bankers, consultants, employees, agents and other representatives”¹⁹⁴ are appropriate.

After voluminous Plan discovery, the Equity Committee states it “may have” colorable claims against the Debtors’ directors and officers for the purported “engineered liquidation and refusal to exercise the Restructuring Support Agreement’s ‘fiduciary out’ to protect the equity security holders.”¹⁹⁵ However, the Equity Committee offers little support for this contention. Since these hypothetical claims would be released under the Plan, the Court will evaluate the viability of such claims.

The Special Committee’s decisions must be analyzed under the business judgment rule. The rule presumes that directors acted “independently with due care, in good faith, and in the honest belief that their actions were in the stockholders’ best interests.”¹⁹⁶ The Court need only determine that the Debtors exercised sound business judgment in deciding to accept the settlement integral to the proposed plan.¹⁹⁷ The Special Committee’s judgment must be upheld “unless it cannot be attributed to any rational purpose.”¹⁹⁸ The Delaware Chancery Court has upheld board decisions under the business judgment rule when the board made its decision on an “informed basis” such that it was counseled by its attorneys and financial advisors and relied, in part, on that advice in making its own “independent business judgment to the advice they

The record is clear that the Debtors’ business was on a sharp downward spiral. Hercules was burning cash at a rate of $450,000 per day. Oil prices were low and the supply of unused rigs were high. Because of the challenging market conditions, the Debtors struggled unsuccessfully to find work even for the Triumph and Resilience, its two most marketable rigs. There was a substantial risk that the Leverage Covenant²⁰¹ would be breached or Hercules would otherwise default on the Credit Agreement in the first quarter of 2017, allowing the First Lien Lenders to accelerate their debt. Of course, this was not Hercules’ expectation in June and July of 2015 when the 2015 Plan was negotiated and agreed to; however, it became Hercules’ reality shortly after it emerged from Chapter 11 reorganization in 2015.

Faced with these financial challenges, HERO formed the Special Committee. The Special Committee then hired Akin Gump, as legal counsel, and PJT, as financial advisor, for their

²⁰¹ Under the Leverage Covenant, a leverage ratio is calculated by dividing the outstanding indebtedness under the First Lien Credit Agreement by Hercules’s consolidated cash flow (essentially, EBITDA). Trial Tr. 153:1-153:9 (Carson); JX 469 (First Lien Credit Agreement), at JX0469-0016, JX0469-0115 (§ 6.10). As of March 31, 2017, the leverage ratio could not exceed 6.00 to 1.00. SF ¶ 23. The leverage ratio decreased (becoming more difficult to satisfy) with each passing quarter in 2017. expertise. The record clearly indicates that the Special Committee/ Board and management met frequently—often multiple times a week or even multiple times a day between the Special Committee’s formation and the Petition Date—to consider the Debtors’ options and evaluate an outcome that would maximize value to all stakeholders.²⁰² This record reflects an intensive and thoughtful effort by management and the Special Committee to respond to the market challenges. This record also demonstrates a lengthy, comprehensive Marketing Process, which involved many sophisticated, well-represented constituents.²⁰³

With the advice and assistance of its hired professionals, the Special Committee and management carefully evaluated competing proposals by Luminus. Luminus’ proposals were compared to the best bids received during the Marketing Process to determine which option presented the best opportunity to maximize recovery for all stakeholders. At issue here is whether the Special Committee and management simply and improvidently caved into Luminus’ pressure on the strategic review.

Evidence indicates that between January and March 2016, the Special Committee engaged in negotiations with Luminus while allowing the Marketing Process to proceed.²⁰⁴ The Debtors provided extensive evidence indicating that it became apparent that the Marketing Process would not yield a meaningful bid for Hercules that exceeded the value of the First Lien Claims or the Debtors’ cash on hand. This also meant that the bids would not provide recoveries to the Debtors' unsecured creditors and equity holders. Acknowledging this, the Special Committee determined that negotiations with the First Lien Lenders were worth pursuing. The First Lien Lenders suggested a plan that the Debtors argue was in the best interests of Hercules' stakeholders.

²⁰² The Board and/or Special Committee met a total of 38 times between November 23, 2015 and the execution of the Restructuring Support Agreement on May 26, 2016.

²⁰³ During the Marketing Process, PJT contacted fifty-one potential strategic partners and sponsors regarding potential transactions. PJT evaluated each bid the company received.

The Equity Committee also asserts that the Board failed to comply with its fiduciary duties and failed to exercise sound business judgment in reacting to the Alleged Defaults. In response, the Debtors insist that the Board was "laser-focused" on the potential Leverage Covenant default²⁰⁵ and engaged in "robust discussion" with management regarding the potential default early on.²⁰⁶

Upon review of the Debtors' evidence surrounding the Board's implementation of a plan of action, I conclude that the Board acted properly, consistent with their fiduciary duties.

More specifically, in presentations relating to Hercules's 2016 budget, management included an "EBITDA Waterfall" depicting whether Hercules would satisfy the Leverage Covenant under then-current projections and assumptions.²⁰⁷ To keep themselves up-to-date, Board members and management met regularly on the topic.²⁰⁸ During these meetings, the Board also discussed the details and implications of the Alleged Defaults.²⁰⁹

Trial Tr. 382:13-17, 383:11-384:6 (Rynd). Legal counsel was present to advise on the Nigeria Registration Covenant and Hercules's options and assisted Hercules in expressly disputing the alleged default. That brings us to the Hercules Highlander. The Debtors argue that the Board and Special Committee considered various methods of obtaining liquidity for acquiring the Hercules Highlander.²¹⁰ However, the Debtors maintain that the methods were ultimately determined to be infeasible. Although, even if these options had been feasible, the Special Committee and Board had determined, and all evidence suggests, by this time that acquiring the Hercules Highlander was unlikely to lead to a value maximizing transaction. The bids received for Hercules (which included the Hercules Highlander and the Maersk Drilling Agreement) were too low to ensure that unsecured creditors would be paid in full, much less provide a return to equity. Even if Hercules purchased the Hercules Highlander, the benefits still would not have prevented the Debtors from defaulting under the Leverage Covenant in 2017. The bottom line is that a future default of the Leverage Covenant was inevitable.

Testimony at the Confirmation Hearing reflected that the Board was appointed because of the members' experience in the offshore drilling industry and oversight of distressed companies. The unfortunate market conditions and series of events that took place were largely out of the Board's control. I conclude that the Special Committee and Board complied with their fiduciary duties, and ultimately chose the option that they believed would conserve the value of the Estates and maximize recovery for all stakeholders, including equity holders.

²¹⁰ The Board determined that litigation with respect to the defaults was too risky. If the Debtors had litigated the Alleged Defaults and lost, then the First Lien Lenders could have accelerated their debt and forced an immediate bankruptcy in which unsecured creditors and equity likely would have recovered nothing. Even if the Debtors ultimately could have succeeded in such litigation, it would have likely taken a significant period of time to achieve such an outcome. Other considerations included: attempting to obtain a mandatory injunction compelling the release of escrowed funds; using the Debtors' existing cash on hand (rejected due to negative liquidity impact); obtaining outside financing (rejected because it required the consent of the First Lien Lenders, which plainly would not be forthcoming).

As the Debtors point out, the Board members and management are further insulated from claims by the provisions of HERO's certificate of incorporation, which exculpates its officers and directors from claims for breaches of fiduciary duty except in cases of bad faith, disloyalty, personal benefit, and unlawful dividends and stock purchases. There are no credible allegations to support claims under the certificate of incorporation exculpation exception.

Lender Releases²¹¹

The Equity Committee avers that the Debtors have numerous colorable claims and causes of action against the Released Lender Parties, which include (i) equitable subordination, (ii) equitable disallowance, and (iii) breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing. Under the Plan, such derivative claims would be released. Therefore, as a threshold matter, I will examine the viability of such claims.

Equitable subordination of the lenders' claims to equity fails as a matter of law. The Third Circuit has held that Bankruptcy Code section 510(c) does not permit creditors' claims to be equitably subordinated to equity interests.²¹² Therefore, this claim is without merit.

The "equitable disallowance" claim is not typically recognized by bankruptcy courts. The exceptions to the allowance of a claim are specifically enumerated in Bankruptcy Code section 502(b), and a creditors' conduct—whether or not it was in good faith—is not within this list of exceptions.²¹³ As a result, bankruptcy courts routinely reject equitable disallowance as a remedy under the Code.²¹⁴ In any event, the record here does not support such a claim.

²¹¹ As set forth in the Plan, the Debtors are granting releases of the Released Lender Parties "in exchange for their agreement to compromise their First Lien Claims as set forth herein, and their enabling holders of Allowed General Unsecured Claims to be paid in full under the Plan and the holders of HERO Common Stock to receive their Pro Rata share of the Shareholder Effective Date Cash Distribution and 100% of the Class B Wind Down Entity Interests, if Class 7 HERO Common Stock votes to accept the Plan, notwithstanding the fact that the value of the Debtors' Estates would not otherwise permit such distributions under applicable provisions of the Bankruptcy Code." Plan, at Art. V.A.

Finally, the Equity Committee claims the Released Lender Parties breached the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing by (i) asserting “baseless” events of default, (ii) declining to extend the deadline for the Nigeria Registration Covenant, and (iii) forcing entry into the Original Forbearance Agreement. These lie at the heart of the Equity Committee’s discontent.

According to New York state law,²¹⁵ the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing is breached when a party acts in a manner that would deprive the other party of the right to receive the benefits of their agreement.²¹⁶ The implied covenant includes any promises which a reasonable promisee would be justified in understanding were included.²¹⁷ However, no obligation may be implied that would be inconsistent with other terms of the contractual relationship.²¹⁸ Here, a finding that the Released Lender Parties breached the covenant of good faith and fair dealing would contradict explicit and unambiguous terms of the First Lien Credit Agreement and create additional obligations not contained therein.

The First Lien Credit Agreement required the company to register a “vessel mortgage” covering certain collateral at the Nigerian Maritime Administration and Safety Agency (the “Nigerian Registration Covenant”). By early April 2016, the registration deadline had been extended without objection several times due to various delays. When the Debtors requested a further extension, the First Lien Agent denied the request at the direction of the First Lien Lenders. When the Debtors failed to meet the deadline, the First Lien Lenders had the contractual right to allege an event of default under the First Lien Credit Agreement.

With respect to the alleged Gibraltar covenant breach, the Debtors admit that they were required under the Credit Agreement to use best efforts to dissolve the Gibraltar entity within 120 days of closing, and that “best efforts” meant they “are going to try [their] hardest to dissolve this entity.”²¹⁹ Notwithstanding its contractual obligation, Hercules decided against dissolving the Gibraltar entity because it thought dissolution might compromise its ability to pursue the collection of an outstanding receivable and failed to so inform their lenders.²²⁰ Thus, while the Company may have used best efforts to collect a disputed receivable, it did not take action necessary to dissolve the Gibraltar entity.²²¹

The Debtors acknowledge they defaulted on both the Nigerian and Gibraltar covenants.²²² The Equity Committee characterizes these defaults as immaterial but, as the Debtors point out, there is no “materiality” requirement in the Credit Agreement. Rather, the Credit Agreement states that any failure to satisfy the Post-Closing Collateral Requirements is grounds for acceleration of the loan and payment of the makewhole.²²³ The alleged Nigerian and Gibraltar covenant defaults were not fabricated.

The Equity Committee further argues that it was bad faith for the First Lien Agent not to grant the Debtors another extension of time to comply with the Nigerian Registration Covenant. Upon review of the evidence, there is nothing to suggest the existence of such a mandate on the First Lien Agent.²²⁴ As such, withholding consent was arguably unfortunate, but not inappropriate.

Finally, the Equity Committee insists that the Lenders’ default contentions were a pretext to force the Debtors to enter into the Forbearance Agreement, thereby preventing the company from accessing the Escrowed Funds to purchase the Hercules Highlander. The problem with this argument is that there is no evidence in the record to indicate that the Lenders called (or even threatened to call) the default prior to entering into the Forbearance Agreement. Admittedly, their leverage at that point was apparent, and the Debtors undoubtedly felt the pressure.

However, I cannot infer bad faith from the Lenders' inaction based on the facts before me.

The Ad Hoc Group argues that lenders are allowed to assert their views about a borrower's strategic options, including that liquidation would maximize value for them and for all stakeholders.²²⁵ It is true that lenders, like any other corporate entity, have a right to protect their own interests and those of their stakeholders.²²⁶ In response, the Equity Committee argues that the First Lien Lenders overstepped their boundaries into forbidden territory. While the Court acknowledges that the First Lien Lenders were strategic in their actions, lenders are free to enforce contract rights and negotiate hard against borrowers at arms-length, particularly those that are in distress, as here.²²⁷ And bargain hard they did.

The Equity Committee's arguments that the Released Lender Parties breached the covenant of good faith and fair dealing are not supported by evidence in the record. There is no doubt that the First Lien Lenders were persistent in pursuing their rights under the First Lien Credit Agreement. Hercules characterized the First Lien Lenders, sardonically, as "aggressive," "vocal," "persistent," and at times "annoying,"²²⁸ however, there is no evidence that they acted unlawfully and no evidence that the Debtors were damaged by any alleged lender misconduct. Messrs. Dickerson, Carson, and Rynd were all credible witnesses, who acknowledged Luminus's insistent behavior, but testified convincingly that such behavior did not unduly influence their responsibilities to the Company or its shareholders.²²⁹ There has also been no evidence presented that the First Lien Lenders interfered with Hercules's business or were somehow impliedly bound to grant another extension of time to satisfy the Nigerian Covenant.²³⁰ Nor was any evidence introduced to establish that the First Lien Lenders or their agents caused or contributed to Hercules's inability to timely satisfy the Nigerian Covenant.²³¹ Rather, the record shows the First Lien Lenders acted within the boundaries of their contractual rights.

Paramount to this decision, is the evidence that the First Lien Lenders have provided substantial consideration to Hercules in exchange for the releases, most significantly: (i) guaranteeing payment in full of all unsecured claims against the Debtors, currently projected to total approximately $35 million; (ii) allowing all unsecured claims against the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries to be paid in full; (iii) guaranteeing a $15 million up-front payment to shareholders; and (iv) reducing the amount of the First Lien Lenders' claim by $32.5 million. The Restructuring Support Agreement (the "RSA") and Amended Plan provide further value to stakeholders by allowing Hercules to use the First Lien Lenders' cash collateral and continue operating for so long as is necessary to engage in a controlled and unrushed monetization of its assets, ensuring maximum asset recoveries. Given the significant monetary and process-oriented value provided to the Estates by the First Lien Lenders under the RSA and the Plan, the lender releases are reasonable and appropriate.

The Debtor Releases meet the appropriate standard: these proposed released parties possess a sufficient identity to the Debtors and have made a substantial contribution, particularly the First Lien Lenders. While I have determined that the Equity Committee has failed to support any claim(s) against the Released Parties, the releases bring needed certainty to the Debtors' exit from chapter 11. The Plan has overwhelming support and has garnered consensus from all stakeholders but equity, who, although arguably "out of the money," will still receive a distribution.

Third Party Releases

Article V.E. of the Plan provides for a consensual release (the "Consensual Third-Party Releases") of certain claims, rights and causes of action against the Released Parties by the Releasing Parties.²³² The Equity Committee objected to the Consensual Third-Party Releases on the grounds that, with respect to equity holders, such releases are not consensual and do not 232 "Releasing Parties" means each of: (a) the Debtors, (b) the Wind Down Entity; (c) the Non-Debtor Subsidiaries; (d) the Ad Hoc Group; (e) the Ad Hoc Group Members; (f) the Consenting First Lien Lenders; (g) each Consenting First Lien Lender; (h) the First Lien Agent; (i) the First Lien Lenders; (j) each holder of HERO Common Stock that votes to accept the Plan; (k) (X) if Class 7 HERO Common Stock votes to accept the Plan, each holder of HERO Common Stock or (Y) if Class 7 HERO Common Stock votes to reject the Plan, each holder of HERO Common Stock except any holder of HERO Common Stock that (I) votes to reject the Plan and submits a ballot or an Equity Release Opt Out Election Form indicating a decision to not grant the releases contained in Article V.E of the Plan or (II) does not vote to accept or reject the Plan but timely submits a ballot or an Equity Release Opt Out Election Form indicating a decision to not grant the releases contained in Article V.E of the Plan; (l) with respect to each of the foregoing Entities in clauses (a) through (k), such Entity's predecessors, successors and assigns, current and former affiliates, subsidiaries, funds, portfolio companies, and management companies; and (m) with respect to each of the foregoing Persons in clauses (a) through (l), each of their respective current and former officers, directors, professionals, advisors, accountants, attorneys, investment bankers, consultants, employees, agents and other representatives (each solely in their capacity as such). satisfy the requirements for approval of a non-consensual third-party release. To resolve this objection, the Court was advised that the Debtors and the Consenting First Lien Lenders have agreed to modify the Plan to exclude all holders of HERO Common Stock from providing the Consensual Third-Party Releases, except with respect to any First Lien Lenders that are parties to the RSA and who also hold HERO Common Stock. With this modification, the objection to the Consensual Third-Party Releases is resolved.

2. The Plan Does Not Violate Section 1129(a)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code Because it is being Proposed in Good Faith

Section 1129(a)(3) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that, in order to be confirmed, the plan must have been “proposed in good faith and not by any means forbidden by law.”²³³ “The good faith standard requires that the plan be ‘proposed with honesty, good intentions and a basis for expecting that a reorganization can be effected with results consistent with the objectives and purposes of the Bankruptcy Code.’”²³⁴ “In evaluating the totality of circumstances surrounding a plan a court has ‘considerable judicial discretion’ in finding good faith, with the most important feature being an inquiry into the ‘fundamental fairness’ of the plan.”²³⁵ Furthermore, the determination of good faith under Section 1129(a)(3) is made based on the information available to the court at the confirmation hearing, and is not limited to the information available when the plan was first proposed. “[I]nformation affecting the good faith determination might be added to the record throughout the process leading up to confirmation.”²³⁶

²³⁶ In re Am. Capital Equip., LLC, 688 F.3d 145, 157 (3d Cir. 2012).

The Equity Committee makes two arguments in support of its proposition that the Plan was not proposed in good faith. First, the settlement provides no value to the Debtors' estates in return for the releases granted under the Plan to First Lien Claim holders. The Court has already addressed this issue at length and, as stated, finds the releases appropriate. Second, the Equity Committee claims that the Debtors have submitted an inaccurate and deficient Disclosure Statement. Specifically, the Equity Committee argues a lack of details surrounding the calculation of First Lien Claims, the arms-length negotiations prior to entering into the Forbearance Agreement, the value of the Hercules Highlander, the exact source of HERO's restriction from accessing the escrowed funds, and request an updated liquidation analysis and waterfall analysis.

At bottom, the Equity Committee is unhappy with their economic treatment under the Plan. The Equity Committee has been adverse to the Debtors from the very beginning of the 2016 Bankruptcy Case. It voted against the Plan, and no amount of additional information would have changed that vote. Upon review, I find that the Disclosure Statement provides those creditors entitled to vote with adequate information.

3. The Plan Does Not Violate the "best interests" test of Section 1129(a)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code²³⁷

Section 1129(a)(7) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that "[t]he court shall confirm a plan only if . . . [w]ith respect to each impaired class of claims or interests . . . each holder of a claim or interest of such class – (i) has accepted the plan; or (ii) will receive or retain under the plan on account of such claim or interest property of a value, as of the effective date of the plan, that is not less than the amount that such holder would so receive or retain if the debtor were liquidated under chapter 7 of this title on such date . . .”²³⁸ “In a case where claims are being released under the chapter 11 plan but would be available for recovery in a chapter 7 case, the released claims must be considered as part of the analysis in deciding whether creditors fare at least as well under the chapter 11 plan as they would in a chapter 7 liquidation.”²³⁹

²³⁷ The Court has been advised that the Equity Committee's third objection regarding governance of the Wind Down Entity has been resolved by the parties.

The Equity Committee argues that the Plan releases claims held by the Debtors’ equity security holders that would be available to them in a Chapter 7 liquidation, citing the same unsupported claims against the Released Lender Parties.²⁴⁰ The Court already addressed these claims herein. More importantly, even assuming that the claims have merit, the Equity Committee has offered no credible evidence that holders of HERO Common Stock would recover greater value in a chapter 7 case than they are to receive under the Plan. The Debtors’ Liquidation Analysis²⁴¹ shows that, even in the high range of estimated liquidation values, there would be no excess value to distribute to holders of HERO Common Stock.²⁴² Therefore, based on the record before me, I conclude that the Plan satisfies the best interests test of Bankruptcy Code section 1129(a)(7).

4. The Plan Satisfies the Cramdown Standard Under Section 1129(b)

Bankruptcy Code section 1129(b)(1) provides that if a plan meets all applicable requirements of Bankruptcy Code section 1129(a) other than Bankruptcy Code section 1129(a)(8), the court may confirm the plan so long as it does not discriminate unfairly and is fair and equitable with respect to each class of claims and interests that is impaired and has not accepted the plan.²⁴³ Section 1129(a)(8) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that “[t]he court shall confirm a plan only if . . . [w]ith respect to each class of claims or interests – (A) such claim has accepted the plan; or (B) such class is not impaired under the plan.”²⁴⁴ HERO Common Stock, which is impaired under the Plan, has voted to reject the Plan.

The Plan can be confirmed only if it complies with the requirements of Bankruptcy Code § 1129. As I noted in Exide Technologies and Tribune:

The plan proponent bears the burden of establishing the plan’s compliance with each of the requirements set forth in § 1129(a), while the objecting parties bear the burden of producing evidence to support their objections.²⁴⁵ In a case such as this one, in which an impaired class does not vote to accept the plan, the plan proponent must also show that the plan meets the additional requirements of § 1129(b), including the requirements that the plan does not unfairly discriminate against dissenting classes and the treatment of the dissenting classes is fair and equitable.²⁴⁶

Bankruptcy Code section 1129(b)(2) provides that a plan is fair and equitable with respect to a class of impaired unsecured claims or interests, as applicable, if the plan provides that the holder of any claim or interest that is junior to the claims or interests of such class will not receive or retain any property under the plan on account of such junior claim or interest.²⁴⁷

²⁴⁷ See 11 U.S.C. § 1129(b)(2)(B)(ii), (C)(ii).

The Debtors offered extensive evidence that indicates that the Plan does not provide any recovery for any Claims or Equity Interests junior to the Equity Interests in the subject classes. Additionally, the Debtors present ample evidence that no holder of a Claim in a Class senior to the subject classes is receiving more than 100% on account of its Claim. Accordingly, the Plan is fair and equitable with respect to holders of Equity Interests in the subject classes.

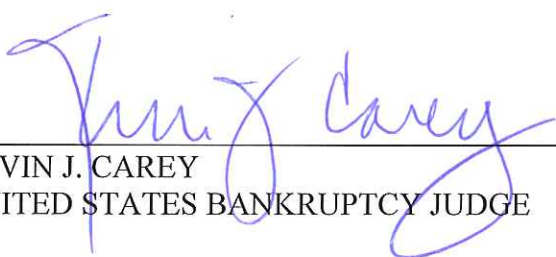

A plan unfairly discriminates in violation of Bankruptcy Code section 1129(b) if it provides materially different treatment for creditors and interest holders with similar legal rights without compelling justifications for doing so.²⁴⁸ Here, the Debtors have shown that all similarly situated holders of HERO Common Stock, Other Equity Interests and Intercompany Interests will receive substantially similar treatment and the Plan's classification scheme rests on a legally acceptable rationale. The Debtors have also demonstrated that the Plan does not permit the First Lien Claims to be paid more than in full. In addition, as discussed herein, the Equity Committee's objections to the First Lien Claims lack merit.

Accordingly, I conclude that the Plan meets all other applicable requirements of section 1129(a), is fair and equitable, and does not discriminate unfairly with respect to holders of Claims or Equity Interests. The Equity Committee makes the blanket statement that the Plan fails to satisfy Sections 1129(a)(1), 1129(a)(2), 1129(a)(3), 1129(a)(7) and 1129(a)(5)(A)(2) of the Bankruptcy Code, however, offers no explanation beyond citing to arguments previously presented. The Equity Committee failed to create any doubt that the Debtor has met its burden to
